Today's Program

STEVIE DANIELS, WETM

Meteorologist -

Hometown is Baltimore, Maryland, 2017 graduate of Salisbury College, Atmospheric Science/Communications degree.

Stevie shared her story and journey to Elmira and WETM. Studied ballet for 12 years and loved to perform. One night while watching the news and weather, her Dad suggested meteorology as a field of study. At the time she was majoring in psychology. When she returned after winter break, she took some classes in atmospheric science and loved it! Her work day begins at 2AM and ends at 12:45PM She goes to bed between 3:30-4:00PM every afternoon to prepare for her early rising. She interprets data from several weather agencies. Her prediction for our future weather: Longer warming up and a cooler summer. We are experiencing the effects of a La Nina.
